Monday -

Dear Miss Parlow

I was terribly disappointed not to be able to go with Alan last night
to hear your concert.

I have a bad-
tempered moron
in the kitchen and just before

to stay for the refreshments and tell you himself
how much he had enjoyed it.

The domestic crisis
had worried him
and he felt he should get home early to make sure we were

we were ready to leave
she put on a display
which made me
afraid to go off
and leave the children alone with her for the evening.

Alan tells me
I missed a great
treat. He has asked me to tell you that he was sorry not all right - which,

of course we were.

With kindest regards to you and your mother and the hope that we may yet manage to find a day when you can come to tea and see our garden and our daughters.

Yours sincerely,
Kathleen Harvey
